Mr. Dover has so arranged his business that hereafter he will be in a position to supply lime in any quantity at any time. This will be welcome news to the people of this part of the county, in the face of the fact that heretofore this product could not be secured without placing advance orders, which often was the cause of much disappointment and delay.

W. H. Adair, the smiling assistant manager of the Consolidated Wagon & Machine Co., made a trip through Washington county the latter part of last week and the first of this, in the interest of his house. He reports having met with exceptional success.

REPORT SHOWS SUCCESSFUL YEAR

Merchandise Sales of Cedar Mercantile Company This Year Total $67,740

Monday last the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Cedar Mercantile & Live Stock Co. was held in the company's store in this city.

The reports of the officers for the business of the year were presented, officers elected and much other important business considered and disposed of.

The entire retiring board was re-elected, consisting of U. T. Jones, L. W. Jones, Henry W. Lunt, Peter B. Fife, Jno. A. Adams, J. J. G. Webster and W. R. Palmer.

During the past year the company paid $15,000 on the purchase of lands, and paid out in wagon freight over $2,000. The company paid in taxes $2,000 more, a neat little sum to be contributed by one institution to the county's funds. The company employed an average of 25 persons during the year, paying out in wages over $19,000.

The most gratifying feature of the report was the enormous business shown to have been done in the retail store in this city, the cash receipts for the year totaling $67,740, an increase over any previous year of several thousand dollars, and which marks the highest point yet reached in the volume of business done by a retail mercantile house in Iron county.

The success of this firm, when it is remembered that it is the latest to be established in this city, is something of an object lesson in progressive methods. There are few houses in the state more enterprising or aggressive, and the management is constantly alert and eager to seize upon the most modern ideas of successful merchandizing. The success of this firm is but another convincing example of the results that surely follow the adoption of recognized modern merchandising methods.

There is more room still for up-to-date stores in certain lines in this city; the field is not yet full, no, it is not even covered.

New firms in today's Record that were not represented last week are, Middleton & Wilkinson, electricians; John E. Dover, lime dealer; Hunter & Lay, barber shop; Cedar City Co-op, department store; in addition to the above, new ads appear for the following firms: J. F. Jakeman & Co., contractors; A. G. Matheson, jeweler; Cedar Mercantile Co., department store; H. E. Peterson, plumbing supplies, and the Gem Theater.

E. R. Lay of Salt Lake City arrived in Cedar City last Sunday and on Monday took a position in the barber shop of J. H. Hunter. Mr. Lay is a skilled barber and comes to this city for the purpose of investigating the opportunity open in his line, and if conditions appear favorable, will locate here permanently. He conducts a shop in Salt Lake but will dispose of his business at that place if he feels that prospects here warrant a change in location.

With numerous fences, several homes being repainted, concrete walks being laid, and other improvements promised, it can not be said that Cedar City is standing still. However, more paint is needed. It is cheap, improves the appearance of property and preserves it from decay.
